

The Phenomenon Bruno Gröning

In 1949 one name dominates the headlines: Bruno Gröning. Newspapers print special editions, radio and newsreels report about him. A film is made. Wherever he goes, thousands of people throng from all over to see him. Gröning becomes an international sensation.

There is no incurable

Most of those who come to him are not fans or followers. They are sick people. Beaten down by war, given up on by doctors, these people had only one wish: to become healthy, free from suffering and pain. They want Bruno Gröning to help them. And he does help them. "There is no incurable – God is the greatest physician!" Those are his words. And the inconceivable happens: countless sick people become healthy – the lame walk, the blind see.

On the Tracks of the Miracle Healer

The documentary film "The Phenomenon Bruno Gröning – on the Tracks of the Miracle Healer" traces the dramatic events of that time with original film and sound recordings, archival material, more than 50 eyewitness interviews, as well as elaborate film re-enactments. All this makes the film a deeply impressive experience.

A film with a special power

Many viewers report that while watching the film, they suddenly noticed an energy, a tingling sensation, a current in their body. For most, this was a totally new experience. Some even reported the disappearance of pain, disability and other ailments.

Healings even today

Gröning died in 1959. But extraordinary healings are still occurring today. How is this possible? The power, which worked through Bruno Gröning back then, continues to work. The facts speak for themselves: healings from cancer, angina pectoris, rheumatism and osteoporosis, as well as from drug and other addictions. Doctors confirm these successes.

See this film and convince yourself about the Phenomenon Bruno Gröning.

The Healings Continue

Due to extraordinary healings, Bruno Gröning made headlines around the world in the 1950s. When he died in 1959, many believed that this phenomenon had ended. But on the contrary, people on all continents are still attaining help and healing, thanks to the teaching of Bruno Gröning.

Thousands of Local Communities

In 1979, Grete Häusler founded the Bruno Gröning Circle of Friends. Even though initially there was only a handful of Friends, the Bruno Gröning Circle of Friends has grown into one of the largest organizations worldwide for help and healing on the spiritual path. More than 13,000 voluntary helpers tirelessly assist.

Worldwide Lectures

Doctors and other healthcare professionals of the Medical Scientific Group (MWF) of the Bruno Gröning Circle of Friends give lectures worldwide, and also upon request by many universities.

In 2013 in New York, the Bruno Gröning Circle of Friends was awarded a Peace Pole by the World Peace Prayer Society (WPPS), which is affiliated with the United Nations (UN).
