

NHSCT Palliative Care User Involvement Forum

We need your views

Are you a carer, service user or patient who is interested in decision making processes in palliative and end of life care?

Palliative care is the care available to people whose illness can no longer be cured. It is about achieving the best quality of life for people with advanced life threatening diseases.

Your views are important to us. By joining the NHSCT Palliative Care User Involvement Forum you can help us to improve services and give other service users a voice. Input may be via email or attendance at 3-4 meetings per year.
